National on property record for a horned ram

2018 saw yet another successful On-property Ram Sale with our $52,000 top-price horn ram, who was knocked down to Derella Downs Merino Stud, Esperance WA. An extremely well-balanced ram that was in hot bidding dual, from all around Australia. The top price poll was $18,000, which went to Stud Park South, Willaura VIC. Followed by, Franklin River Grazing of WA for $14,000.

Our 2018, maidens lifted to new heights topping at $304/hd at Wycheproof in late November 2018.

“Twenty years ago, at a workshop at Murrumburrah, we were impressed by both John and his sheep and chose to commit to Wallaloo Park genetics. It has been a rewarding dedication with big gains in wool quality, lambing percentages (120% for the last four years) and meat quality. The Carters client service is outstanding and their aggressive attitude to measurement puts Wallaloo Park ahead of many of the other studs.”

Show success

In 2018 we continued to test the waters on the show floor and produced great results, either through sired progeny or one of our Wallaloo Park ewes. The highlight, winning against all full wools at Sheepvention with our team of 3 March shorn ewes.

The Home of Wool Quality

We have been fortunate enough to be involved in an AWI funded trial focusing on facial recognition, run by NeXtgen Agri Ltd. The trial is opening up so many doors with great potential to digitally assess the physical & structural features of the animal. Only in its early stages, we can see this becoming a new tool for the livestock industry.

Our investment into predictability, is continuing into 2019, ensuring the genetics you buy are honest & reliable. Advancements into our adoption of the Smart shepherd mother technology, with improved results, averaging 95% for 2019. Total drop measurement of growth, wool & carcass.

Wallaloo Park genetics have been injected into a 100% composite flock as a trial with very promising results in gross returns. This was heavily driven by the tremendous reduction in micron, 32 microns to 21.9 micron, in one cross. This very promising result returned the Wallaloo Park cross at a profit premium of $27/head, over straight composites from an annual return.

At Wallaloo Park we have always prided ourselves on delivering a consistent, predictable product that clients have relied on for decades. In recent years we have been testing the waters of new traits. With those intact, we plan to deliver those back into the Wallaloo park wools that have stood proud for years. Predictability is the key!!
